Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 20 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Turning wetter and breezier from the west through the day.

Today:
A cloudy start to Friday with some drizzle and light rain in places. Becoming breezier through the late afternoon as a band of rain moves eastward into the region. Similar temperatures to recently. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy with rain, turning heavier and more persistent through the evening and into the night, accompanied by a brisk breeze, particularly at coastal locations. Remaining mild. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Saturday:
Wet start to Saturday with rainy conditions persisting through the day. Heaviest rain expected in northern locations through the afternoon. Winds becoming light. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Drier conditions through Sunday, sunny spells possible between showers. Becoming much more settled into the start of next week, with dry conditions and sunny spells. Feeling warm in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.